Women Civic Leaders Denounce OPA; Nearby Town Dealers Feel Meat Pinch

Presidents of Groups Urge Meat Decontrol

Presidents of six of Mansfield's leading women's civic and social organizations denounced government control of meat today.

One urged a buyers' strike while several said they felt meat and grocery dealers might be justified inclosing their stores as a means forcibly to call attention tothe need for decontrol.

The women were called by the News-Journal today to obtain a cross section of opinions from civic and social leaders inthe community. Here are their comments:

MRS. JAY R. PALMER, regent of the Martha Washington chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution: "I think the housewives should call a strike on meat buying, even when they can get it. We can get along without it for awhile. I'm getting tired of begging for meat.

"As for the grocers' and meat dealers' strike, I think it's a very good idea."

MRS. CHARLES R. BUNDT, president, Mansfield Music Study club: "The present situation is no surprise to those who have followed the effects of the OPA. The only solution to the problem, as I see it, is to remove OPA.

"A grocers' strike would deprive a lot of people of groceries, and would work hardships especially on the working people. Still it has two sides. If the strike will bring any quicker action to get rid of the OPA, I'm forit."

MRS. PAUL M. STAHL, president of the Parent-Teachers' General Council: "I believe that if supply and demand would have a chance to go back inworking order the present shortages would clear up. As soon as the ceiling prices were dropped off meat the supply increased. Then when the ceilings were put back on, the supply decreased. If ceilings would be left off long enough, I believe the supply would build up to a point where there would be no shortage.

"As for the grocer strike, something drastic has to be done. People have tried soften to write their congressmen and nothing comes of it. It seems like you're beating your head against a stone wall every time youoppose a measure."

MRS. ROBERT W. JONES, regent of Jared Mansfield chapter, DAR: "When ceilings were off, the meat supply was sufficient to meet the needs of the people. Since OPA ceilings have gone back into effect, they have complicated things for the housewife. Since we have to go through the readjustment period, I think it would be better to allow meat to seek its own levels again and be without OPA.

"While I don't like to see the

SHIP WALKOUT IN STALEMATE

CIO, Shipping Operators Fail to Resume Conferences

The stalemate between the CIO National Maritime union and shipping operators continued today, bottling up many ships in the nation's ports although shortened CIO picket lines permitted access to AFL manned ships and eased a tense situation along the waterfronts.

Make No Moves.

No successful moves were reported to bring ship operators' negotiating committees and the striking CIO national maritime union together in New York.

Talks were broken off Sunday night when the operators demanded that security watches be returned to struck vessels. The NMU had withdrawn the watches earlier in the day.

On the west coast, there also were no signs of conferences between the operators and the striking CIO marine cooks and stewards union, and the independent marine firemen, oilers, wipers and watertenders, which struck with the NMU Friday at the end of the AFL stoppage to enforce demands for wage parity with AFL seamen.

The operators have insisted the men return to work before resuming negotiations.

But AFL maritime workers trudged back to work on ships in New York and other Atlantic and gulf ports yesterday after Joseph Curran, president of the NMU, ordered that picketing be restricted to CIO-contracted vessels.

HUNTER KILLED

Former New London Man Found Dead on Farm.

NEW LONDON—Vernon Dunlap, 42, of Laport, O., former resident of New London, was found dead yesterday on the farm of Paul Becker, Laport, a gunshot wound in his head.

Dunlap had asked permission to hunt on the farm. When he failed to return, a search was started. The body was found by Mrs. Fred Becker, who called the Lorain county sheriff.

An employe of the Western Automotive company of Elyria, Dunlap leaves his wife, Ruth; a daughter, Marilyn, and a son, Charles, at home; his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Dunlap, of New London; two brothers, Loyal, of Elyria, and Harmon, of New London, and one sister, Mrs. Donald Bell, of Elyria.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 1 p. m. at the Michols funeral home. Burial will follow at the Fitchville cemetery.

Threatens to End Life Before Train

Police today were holding for investigation a North Main street man who, officers said, threatened to throw himself in front of a train.

An East Sixth 'street resident told police the man had said he had "no place to go" and "no room."

He was picked up by officers about 2:45 a. m. today on East Sixth street.

ESCAPER HELD

Arrested at Auburn, N. Y., on a speeding charge, Michael Tulak, 22, of Toledo, O., was held there on a fugitive warrant today, the United Press reported. He admitted to police that he escaped from Mansfield reformatory and stole a car in Toledo.

PASS TESTS

53 Per Cent of Civil Service Applicants Make Grade.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Fifty-three percent of 3,536 persons tested passed Ohio's first large scale civil service examinations since before the war, the civil service commission announced today.

The 1,873 who passed the June 24 examination included 460 veterans.

The tests were given to full vacancies in the bureau of unemployment compensation and the welfare department divisions of social administration and aid for the aged.

Mayor Resigns to Keep Liquor Store

ITHACA, N. Y.—(INS)—Running a liquor store is more profitable than being mayor of Ithaca, it was decided today by James Conley.

Conley resigned after serving eight of a two year term when the state liquor board ruled that he could not keep his liquor store license while serving as mayor because as mayor he was head of the police department. The mayor's job pays $2,600 a year and Conley said it would be more profitable to remain in the liquor business. Arthur N. Gibb, Republican, acting mayor probably will be unopposed in the special Nov. 5 election.

ARCHBISHOP ARRESTED

BELGRADE—(AP)—The government announced today that the head of the Catholic church in Yugoslavia, Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac, had been arrested in Zagreb and charged with "crimes against the people."

NIGHT ATTACKS BRING WARNING

Man Seriously Injured, Woman Knocked Down and Choked in Latest Incidents.

Attacks in which a North Main street man was seriously injured and a Springmill street woman knocked to the ground and choked brought a warning today to Mansfield women.

The incidents brought to four the series of night-time attacks on Mansfield residents. It was the third attack on a woman in a month and the second in less than a week.

As police pressed their investigation, Chief Meade K. Bates issued this warning to Mansfield women:

"Don't walk alone after dark in unlighted, sparsely-populated sections of the city and report to police at once any persons thought to be suspicious."

Bates said all the attacks were reported to have been made by Negro men. He urged women to be especially watchful for such men in areas where there are few Negro homes.

Victim In Hospital.

In Mansfield General hospital today with a broken hand, broken fingers and deep scalp wounds was Andrew Fondos, 49, of 415 North Main street.

He told police that he was slugged from behind by two men at the rear of his home about 1 a. m. today. Both men fled and an hour and a half later Fondos was able to make his way to a nearby hotel to summon aid.

Fondos told officers the two men stopped him in front of a North Main street lumber company and asked for a cigaret, then followed him to the rear of his home, where one of them asked for 25 cents.

Next they requested food, Fondos said, explaining that he was attacked as he turned to enter his home.

Fondos said one of the men was tall and one of medium build. The latter was intoxicated, he said.

Assaulted In Alley.

A 23-year-old Springmill street woman told police she was assaulted by two men about 9:15 p. m. yesterday in a Bowman street alley.

She said one of the men grabbed her by the throat and started to choke her; the other put her hand over her mouth and threw her to the ground.

She told officers that when she broke loose and screamed, the men fled. The woman described one of her attackers as between 20 and 25 years old.

She said the men first con-

SEEKS NEW TRIAL

SPRINGFIELD—(UP)—Decision on a motion for a new trial was deferred here today until Sept. 26 in the case of Eugene Koons, 22, convicted hatchet slayer of his widowed mother. The hearing on the motion was held before the same three-judge tribunal that previously found Koons guilty of first degree murder.

VISITOR: Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, well known figure in international society, was in Mansfield yesterday visiting her brother, Dr. G. J. Searle, 81 Sturges avenue. Mrs. Whitney's marriage a few years ago in nearby Plymouth received wide attention in the world press. Mrs. Whitney left last night for her home "Whitney House" at Old Westbury, Long Island. Mrs. Whitney's picture recently appeared on the cover of Life magazine.

APPEALS COURT HEARS 4 CASES

Humiliation Action Dismissed For Late Filing.

The fifth District Court of Appeals meeting in Mansfield today, heard four cases and dismissed two, one of which was settled out of court.

It also dismissed the case filed by Jack Middlebrook against the city of Mansfield. City Solicitor Leslie K. Wagner requested the dismissal for failure to file the brief in time..

Middlebrook had asked $500 for humiliation and embarrassment caused him when he was refused the sale of a ticket to swim in Liberty Park Pool.

Settled out of court yesterday was the eviction case brought by Harry E. Goldman against Charles C. Felts. Municipal court officials said that the alias writ would be issued Sept. 20.

The court heard but postponed a decision on the case against Ernest Young, Eighth avenue. Young had been convicted in Juvenile court on several counts of molesting juvenile girls. He sought reversal.

The court also delayed decision on a case involving money action filed against the Trustees of the Canton, Youngstown railroad company by Fred Myers for injuries he suffered when he reportedly stepped into a ground-hog hole on the property of the railroad company.

BURNS PROVE FATAL

MIDDLETOWN — (AP) — Burns suffered in a fire which destroyed his home in nearby Millville two weeks ago caused the death last night of Jessie Lyons, 54.

Hundreds Turned Away; Sellers' Larders Bare

Meat sellers in towns and communities surrounding Mansfield, able to keep adequate stocks throughout the war, reported their larders bare today.

"There aren't words to describe how critical the situation really is," said H. J. Zolman of the Zolman market, near Fredericktown, where hundreds of Mansfielders have bought meat in the past.

"Hundreds of people drive here from all over the area, but we have to turn them away. We have no meat to sell them and no prospects of getting any.

"As far as I'm concerned, I've sold my last piece of beef over the counter until the OPA gets out of the picture."

In other parts of the county, meat dealers had the same story.

In Bellville, George Brooks of the Brooks market said that he did not have a thing to offer customers.

A survey in Shelby showed very little meat received by butchers. That little was rationed voluntarily by dealers.

Worst to Come.

"Existing conditions look black now," a Shelby dealer said, "but we butchers expect that the worst is yet to come."

A survey of the four Mt. Gilead markets showed virtually no meat, with prospects growing worse.

One dealer said he had even shut off his refrigeration system, since he had nothing to refrigerate

"The only thing that is keeping us open is that we sell groceries," he said. "If we didn't we would be out of business."

Mt. Gilead restaurants reported they had enough meat for this week but that they had no prospects of getting any for the coming week.

A Galion butcher summed up the situation there by saying "There just isn't any meat."

The Buckeye Lockers which normally receive 58 types of meat received only four this week.

FARMER FREED

Suspect in Berry-Patch Killing Released in Bond.

ASHLAND—Charles E. Briggs, Lake township farmer charged with the July 31 berry patch slaying of Mrs. Roger McKinley, mother of three children, was free today under $10,000 bond. He is awaiting trial Oct. 7 on second degree murder charges.

Briggs had been held in Ashland county jail since the September term grand jury returned a second degree murder indictment against him. Bond of $10,000 was posted yesterday by relatives of the 62-year-oldeman.

Mrs. McKinley was killed while her husband and three children watched helplessly.

Gambling Ship 'Admiral' Glum

LONG BEACH, Cal. — (INS) — "Admiral" Tony Cornero, whose gambling ship, the Lux, is under seizure by the U. S. government, wore the air of a man grievously wronged today. He lamented:

"I complied with every request of the coast guard and the U. S. government. I know of no law I have violated. So therefore the blame must be with them, not

WALKOUT IDLES RANGE WORKERS

Westinghouse Assembly Line Reported Halted.

Several hundred electric range assembly line workers at Westinghouse were idled today as a direct result of the four-day walkout of approximately 175 workers in the vitreous enameling plant.

Reliable sources informed the News-Journal that the "vit" workers, who walked out Friday because of small paychecks, were "not satisfied with the 'system'." The 175 workers represent all three shifts on the two enameling furnaces. Employes in the "vit" told the N-J that their weekly paychecks ranged from $21 to $29.

The range assembly line, which also was shut down yesterday because of lack of work, has several hundred men on its payroll, it was reported.

Meanwhile, management and union officials of Local 711, URMWA-CIO maintained silence. Only comment came from a union official who said that the grievances of the vit workers will be handled through the union and submitted to the company. The official said that the union had authorized no walk-out.

Just Case of Bigger Feet, Think Ladies

COLUMBUS — (AP) — The wife probably will say it's because their shoes are bigger, but men were .05 of a second faster getting from the accelerator to the brake than were women during drivers' reaction tests conducted at the recent Ohio state fair.

The state highway department reported today that more than 1,000 persons were tested on a perception-reaction machine designed by its division of traffic and safety, and that males of all ages averaged .57 of a second to get on the brake when a red light flashed, while women took an average of .62 seconds.

The primary purpose of the test, however, wasn't to promote family arguments. The results of both sexes averaged .58 of a second, and in that time an automobile traveling at 60 miles an hour would cover 53 feet before the driver could even apply brake pressure, the department warns. Then, with good brakes and a dry pavement, another 301 feet would be required for a full stop.

Under actual driving conditions reaction time of individuals is considerably longer. During the fair tests persons anticipated the signal to stop, the department said.

Shutdown Wave Hits Car Firms

DETROIT—(INS)—Paralysis from two strikes spread through the automobile industry at accelerating speed today, with 45,000 workers already idle and thousands more expected to be laid off.

The Chrysler corporation, with almost 29,000 made idle by a strike at its Dodge truck plant and a walkout at a Briggs Manufacturing company plant, said further layoffs were expected today unless the Briggs strike is settled.

UNION PROTEST CAUSES WALKOUT.

The Briggs company said 15,400 were laid off last night because 1,800 production workers at its outer drive plant struck in protest against the discharge of a union steward.

The Packard Motor Car company halted final assembly operations yesterday, leaving 1,100 workers idle, because the Briggs strike shut off its supply of bodies.

Packard said more of its 8,000 workers in the Detroit area would be laid off today unless the dispute is settled.

Chrysler officials expressed fear that the Briggs strike soon would affect its Plymouth division, which obtains parts from Briggs.

General Motors corporation, which also receives some parts from Briggs, said it hadn't yet been affected seriously by the dispute.

U. S. PROPOSES BORDER PROBE

Urges U. N. Investigation of Greek Frontier Incidents.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(AP)—The United Nations has drafted a far-flung proposal that the United Nations security council name a fact-finding committee to study border incidents along the entire northern Greek frontier, including the areas adjacent to Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria, it was learned authoritatively today.

The United States plan, in the form of a suggestion and not a formal motion, was due to go before the council late this afternoon when delegates resume the long debate on the Soviet Ukraine's complaint against Greece and Great Britain.

It was understood that Delegate Herschel V. Johnson's plan would call for a small committee of the council to undertake the study here and report as soon as possible.

The committee also would be asked to study Ukraine charges that the Greek government was persecuting minorities, insofar as such a situation might provoke border clashes.

Such action by Johnson would in effect keep the Greek case on the agenda and at the same time provide a broad inquiry into border incidents in an effort to determine how they were being provoked. Greece and Albania have accused each other of touching off the clashes.

Military Coup In Venezeula Fails

CARACAS, Venezuela —(INS)— Two officers were reported killed and several men wounded early today in an unsuccessful military coup against the government of Venezuela.

The revolt, which broke out in the cavalry barracks in the southern part of Caracas, was put down after spirited fighting.

MUST AGREE TO KEEP MUM OR QUIT POST

Truman Set to Use Pressure on Commerce Secretary, Say Top Officials.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Top administration officials said today President Truman has decided to tell Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace he must quit talking about American foreign policy or get out of the cabinet.

Wallace was due at the White House late this afternoon.

Less than 24 hours earlier he made public—without Mr. Truman's approval—a letter he wrote the chief executive last July urging that this country agree to "reasonable Russian guarantees of security" even at the risk of "appeasement" cries.

"We have little time to lose," Wallace said in calling for a "shift in some of our thinking about international matters."

Acknowledges Letter.

The letter, which Mr. Truman simply acknowledged and passed on to Secretary of State Byrnes, proposed a long list of moves Wallace said should improve American-Russian relations.

Among them was a definite treaty pledge for the eventual destruction of America's store of atomic bombs and a reassessment of this country's military as well as foreign policies to avert what Wallace described as the danger of a third world war.

Major portion of Wallace's letter to President Truman will be found in Drew Pearson's column on the editorial page.

The president specifically "disapproved" release of the letter for general publication on the grounds that his approval might be misconstrued abroad as applying to its contents as well.

Bu this decision—reversing an earlier one by White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross—came too late. Copies had been distributed among reporters at the commerce department after it had been learned that a columnist was about to make the document public. It was this fact that had led Ross to give Wallace a tentative go-ahead to release the letter.

Thus it broke into print as the week-old cabinet drama moved toward this afternoon's climax act in Mr. Truman's office.

Whether Wallace would choose to keep his position in silence or get out and fight for the foreign policy he believes America should have was his own secret for the moment. But at least some of those close to him expressed belief he would elect to get out rather than be gagged.

Reveal Details.

Swiftly, these other details were learned from top administration officials:

1. Wallace, already at work on his scheduled September 24 speech at Providence, R. I., hoped last night to have it ready to take to the conference with the president.

2. The president is deeply concerned about the effect abroad of Wallace's foreign policy declarations, fearful lest other governments might begin to act on the assumption that this government is split over its relations with Russia.

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK—Too many of our intelligent citizens are repeating their old mistake of under-estimating Henry Wallace as an amiable, confused and harmless political slob whose bang of hair and general appearance of having spent the night in a culvert somehow assure them that he is incapable of the ferocities of the gory dictatorship in Russia of which he is, in our country, the principal defender.

Warning might be found, however, in the examples of Adolf Hitler and Huey Long, the one with his rumpled rain-coat, the other in his slept-in seersucker and both with the flopping forelock, who seemed goofy until their positions were established, whereupon they dropped the pose of oafishness and got down to bloody business.

Contempt and ridicule are appropriate weapons with which to destroy some political freaks but Wallace has been dragged through these preliminary attacks by his Stalinist following in and out of the CIO. He stands formidable as an advocate of the extension of the Stalin empire with Communists ranged behind and around him on his platform, chanting damnation of all the rights that distinguish American citizenship from Russian nonentity, and of our "Fascist" republic.

Long ago, Wallace expressed contempt for the "bill of rights democracy" of the United States and a yearning for the social, economic and sexual democracy of Soviet Russia. Like the late Ray Clapper, who made a hero of him, he doesn't define, much less defend in detail the propositions that he advocates in these vague terms because, like Clapper, he realizes that they cannot stand up in thoughtful debate except in the judgment of those who rather yearn for the disciplined order of dictatorship.

The bang, the baggy knees, the moist and drooling lips and the air of earnest stupidity are no more evidence of a warm heart in a politician than a polished appearance and an alert expression. On the contrary, in Wallace's case they introduce a man who speaks kindly of a regime which his own Roosevelt, in a moment of unwary honesty, condemned as a parallel of Hitlerism, under a butcher no less satanic than Hitler himself.

He commends a system of drones and serfs, rules and the ruled, under which millions have died for political error, including heretical belief in private property, and today millions of slaves are vanished from Europe. By sexual democracy, he seems to mean a system in which the women are rescued from the slavery of the civilized home and chained to jobs at physical labor under state control.

Wallace, in his latest and most ominous demonstration at Madison Square Garden, in the company of eminent advocates of the Stalin empire, proposed a division of the world into three zones of influence, Russian, Chinese and American, with the British elected to a junior partnership in the American empire.

He resented the exercise by the United States of any interest in Stalin's empire but neither in this address, under the appropriate auspices of the Citizens' Political Action Committee, nor in any past utterance, has Wallace objected to the interferences in the domestic affairs of the United States of the very Stalinists who constitute most of his own following.

That interference has caused strikes in American industry, under general instructions from Moscow, which have brought the nation dangerously close to destitution and revolution. It contrived the penetration of Stalinists into the American state department and the departments of agriculture and commerce under his own administrations and the selection of other traitors for commissions in the armed services in the war

Lippmann — Today and Tomorrow

WASHINGTON — (LP) — Our Uncle Samuel, who is friskier than you might think, turned up today as a dealer in nekkid statuary.

Uncle has some weird enterprises, as every taxpayer knows, but for sheer, wild-eyed fantasy, none compares to his alien property sales. He's still got $60,000,000 worth of stuff seized from the Germans in the first World war; now he's trying to peddle $280,000,000 more that the Nazis and the Japs left here when the second war started.

The merchandise ranges from a $2 camera owned by a Jap to a multi-million dollar chemical factory controlled by the Germans.

Only the other day Alien Property Custodian James E. Markham knocked down for $1,060 a bronze torso of a nude German female; a while back he sold for $1,000 an old master, "Madonna and child," by Bartolommeo Vivarini. A European broker had shipped it here for sale; when the war started Markham grabbed it.

These things sell easily at good prices and we taxpayers pocket the proceeds. Some other merchandise looks like a total loss, unless you should happen to be in the market for a couple of shinto temples, gaudy in gold leaf and red lacquer.

They're both in Hawaii: Markham will sell the pair for $22,000, a bargain for anybody who needs temples.

He still is looking for nibbles on an ultra-modern steel billet mill, for which Mitsubishi Shoji Kaisha, Ltd., of Tokyo paid $725,000 cash. It hadn't been shipped from Pittsburgh on Pearl Harbor day.

It is an elegant steel mill, except for one thing: It produces undersized, Jap-style billets, only. Nobody but the junkman wants it.

In stock currently in New York are 20 cases of glass beads, some genuine pearl necklaces, and $3,000 worth of Jap flower seed which has gone stale and is no good to anybody. Markham has a $17,000 incense burner of solid jade, which he'll let go for $5,000.

He collected $15,000,000 for the German stock in the American Potash and Chemical company; he also got $350,000 for the Nazi interest in the American Wine company, of St. Louis. He sold for a respectable price in Philadelphia not long ago the two-door sedan, box camera, eight tube radio and tool chest of Jacob Edenhofer, a German carpenter.

Nearly $1,000,000 was rung up for thousands of German amethysts, opals, sapphires, carnelians, garnets, and aquamarines in New York. If you want to show your patriotism, finally, demand that the band play frequently the German tune, Lili Marlene. Every time it is tootled, says Markham (who also is a song plugger), Uncle collects a royalty

To reduce the public debt, we must listen some more to the love song to Lili: This is a sacrifice, but it also is our duty.

Co-ops Hear Talk On 'Suggestion'

Co-operative club members and guests last night heard Lowell Bourns, of Todd Coleman and Associates, talk on the "Power of Suggestion." Speaking before the club at its regular Tuesday night meeting in the Mansfield-Leland hotel, Bourns discussed the application of the power of suggestion in the advertising business, and personal lines of endeavor. Dr. J. E. Dunham presented Bourns.

A report was made on the club's sponsorship of the school for the deaf. Joe Nichols, vice president of the club, said that two more hearing aids should be obtained for members of the school now ready for them.

DECISION NEAR ON GARBAGE FEE INCREASE PLAN

Council Committee to Decide Tonight on Separate Ash Charge.

City council's sewer-garbage committee will attempt to decide tonight whether to boost the city's $7.20-a-year garbage collection fee and how much to charge for ash collections.

The four-man committee will submit its recommendations to a council caucus for approval and possible adoption at the October meeting.

Ashes are now collected free and the yearly garbage fee isn't enough to keep the refuse department out of the red.

Councilmen are agreed that garbage and ashes should be collected under separate systems with a charge for each.

Councilmen haven't agreed, however, whether they also should increase the garbage collection fee.

Regular Schedule.

They've also informally agreed that ashes should be collected on a regular schedule, on a per-bushel basis and that they should be placed in "suitable containers" furnished by customers.

Councilmen have agreed to these changes because:

1. Numerous customers are not at home when ashmen call, forcing return trips to the homes, and delaying service.

2. Numerous customers require ashmen to "unload" their basements of a several months' backlog of ashes on a single trip, further delaying service.

3. Numerous customers require ashmen to shovel ashes off basement floors and crewmen must then use city-owned containers to move ashes to trucks—another service delay.

Points of Disagreement.

In addition to being divided on the question of to-boost-or-not-to-boost the garbage fee, councilmen also disagree on the need for requiring customers to place ash-filled containers outside their homes.

Some argue that it would increase greatly the speed of service; others believe it would work a hardship on elderly residents and make for an unkempt city.

The committee tonight will study a recommendation by five city officials for increasing the minimum garbage fee to $9-a-year and setting a minimum yearly ash fee of $6.

A $6-a-year ash fee would bring in an estimated $30,000-a-year, enough, some councilmen say, to take the refuse department out of the red.

Studying the questions tonight will be Councilmen Clifford Knarr, chairman of the sewer garbage committee, and Charles Shultz, James R. Anderson and Nelson Swihart.

WILL AIR DELAY ON SANATORIUM

Advisory Board to Meet With Commissioners Tomorrow.

The Richland county Tuberculosis Advisory board will meet tomorrow at 1 p. m. with the county commissioners to discuss the delay in construction of the county's new Sanatorium.

Most recent action in the proposed construction program came in the form of a letter from the state department of health following application for federal funds to suppelment the $300,000 bond issue.

State Funds Needed.

The letter said that before federal funds passed by recent legislation could be granted Ohio, a survey of hospital facilities and needs in the state would have to be made. This could not be accomplished until the state supplied funds.

Architect Hervert S. Jones told commissioners at a meeting August 8 that the $300,000 voted by taxpayers last fall would be insufficient to build the sanatorium.

Seek New Lease.

The commissioners also will meet Sept. 21 to negotiate with Mrs. Barbara Nichols, administratrix, of the T. Amos Jones estate for a new lease on the present hospital sanatorium on Lexington avenue.

Mrs. Nichols had told the commissioners that she had been expecting to sell the building but promised that the condition of sale would include an agreement for a lease with the county for as long as it is needed.

The commissioners have no legal right to the building at the present time.

RE-DEDICATION

CRESTLINE—Re-dedication of the First Presbyterian church has been set for Sunday, Sept. 29, with morning and evening services.

Dr. Arthur Hays, professor emeritus of church history of the McCormick Theological seminary, Chicago, will deliver the morning sermon.

VET ENROLLMENT HIGH

CITY'S PROPERTY OWNERS ARE URGED TO ORGANIZE

Mansfield property owners last night were urged to organize for the "championship of free enterprise and the rights of all property owners."

Speaking before about 40 persons, in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, Henry E. Price, executive director of the National Home and Property Owners' Foundation, explained that "the Foundation was organized in the 48 states with the objective of uniting the nation's 27 million owners of property into a mighty voice for the preservation of individual rights. It will furnish information to its members, and represent them on Capitol Hill," Price said.

Remove Controls.

Advocating "immediate steps to remove all war time controls," and "the lifting of rent controls which would stimulate building all over the nation and thus restore our economy," Price said, "Private enterprise and the ownership of private property spell out equality of opportunity which is the greatest feature of our American democracy. I do not go along with the trend of thinking under which we are trying to legislate equality."

Price criticized public housing measures such as the Wagner-Ellender-Taft housing bill as "threatening to give our nation a nationalized housing program such as exists in England where four-fifths of housing is public." He predicted that "this bill stands a chance of passage if President Truman calls a special session on it as he is being urged to do."

"All public housing is not taxed," Price reminded his listeners, "thus increasing the tax burden of property holders."

A. B. Reese, Mansfield realtor, and trustee for the 17th Congressional district, presided. Price was introduced by Frank Avern, public relations director for the Ohio branch of the foundation. It was announced that the Mansfield Real Estate board was the first in the nation to have 100 per cent membership in the foundation.

W. C. Mansfield was announced as Richland county chairman and finance director, and Lloyd Dillon as membership chairman in a drive to enlist members for an office to represent the property owners of Mansfield.

AID TO JOBLESS DECLINES HERE

Applications Show Sizeable Drop During August.

Mansfield, like the rest of the state, had fewer applications for unemployment benefits during August than July, C. W. Handley, manager of the United States Employment Service office, reported today.

Fifty-nine new applications for unemployment compensation were filed as compared with 71 in July. New applications have been decreasing steadily since the peak period of returning servicemen in March and April, Handley said.

During August the office made more placements than in any month since V-J day, and there were more job openings, Handley said.

Veterans filed 91 new claims under the Servicemen's Readjustment act during August. Of that number 23 were self-employed and in need of some extra funds to supplement the earnings from their work or business.

From January to July the office paid out $297,341.28 in unemployment compensation. Payments declined from $40,489.22 in April to $25,504.05 in July.

Representatives of Mansfield industries, veterans' and civic organizations and the city government are scheduled to meet at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the U. S. Employment office to map the city's observance of National Handicapped Workers' week Oct. 6 to 12.

Purpose of the observance is to promote interest in the handicapped workers, many of them veterans.

National Handicapped week was established by the 79th Congress and will be observed annually.

Ashland Employes Get Wage Increase

ASHLAND — Pay increases granted to city employes, retroactive to Sept. 1, provide for wage increases of 15 cents per hour or $30 per month for salaried employes.

The new city pay rates place the salaries of department heads at $2,722.50. This is a higher salary bracket than those now occupied by the city's elected officials, including the mayor and the city finance director, who are not included in the "cost of living" pay hike.

THEY SAW REAL MEAT—

A score of women received the disappointment of their lives yesterday. They stood two-deep before a meat counter as butchers sliced off—yes, it was—real beef Then, unexpectedly, the owner announced, "That's all today." He explained the rest of the meat had to go to fill an order for ground beef for the high school cafeteria.

NO BURSTING METEOR—

When Harold Hess and other Butlerites yesterday afternoon saw white streaks in the sky over Mansfield, rumor ran rampant that a meteor was bursting over the city, that the phenomenon was due to secret army experiments with guided missiles, etc., etc. Hess, wanting to learn the truth, called the N-J and the Mansfield police, and soon had his fears laid to rest. A check with J. R. "Bud" Harrington, manager of Mansfield Municipal airport, brought the word that the streaks were vapor trails left by a high-flying B-29 plane.

Complete City Goes on Block

CORVALLIS, Ore. —(INS)— A complete city of some 1,270 buildings at Camp Adair near Corvallis was put on the block today by the war assets administration for sale to government agencies and non-profit institutions with priorities.

The buildings, ranging from 410 barracks and 188 mess halls down through a complete town of theaters, cafeterias, bowling alleys, barber shops and miscellaneous buildings, was offered intact and must be removed from the grounds by the buyers.

NATION WILL GET ONLY 10 MAJOR SHIPS

Military Commission Agrees on Top Army Strength of 250,000 Officers, Men.

PARIS—(AP)—The peace conference military commission set its seal on the military limitations clauses of the Italian treaty today, cutting the Italian fleet to 10 major ships and limiting the army to 250,000 officers and men.

Sets Naval Quota.

Supplementing a decision yesterday which consigned most surplus fleet units to the Big Four for division and requiring Italy to destroy the rest, today's unanimous action lets Italy keep two battleships, four cruisers and four destroyers, as well as minor units such as 16 torpedo boats, 20 corvettes and auxiliaries. The army's armament is restricted to 200 medium and heavy tanks among other items.

Under the annex adopted, Italy may keep the old 1912 battleships Andrea Doria and Caio Duilio, the cruisers Luigi de Savoia Duca Degli Abruzzi, Gieuseppe Garibaldi, Raimondo Montecuccolli and Luigi Cadorna, and the destroyers Carabiniere, Granatiere, Grecale and Nicoloso da Recco.

Stirred by the news that Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace had urged President Truman to seek an American-Russian treaty on atomic energy, the peace conference also appeared headed for a showdown on a British effort to prohibit atom bomb manufacture in the beaten Balkan nations.

The British amendment—seeking to add atomic fission weapons and controlled torpedoes to the list of arms prohibited in Bulgaria—already has met with violent Slav opposition in the military commission, which had the matter on Monday's agenda but put it off with a decision to complete work on the Italian treaty first. Consideration of the banned weapons clause of the Hungarian treaty also was delayed.

VETS FINDING JOBS IN COUNTY

Active List of Applicants Drop Sharply in August.

There were less than half as many veterans seeking work in Richland county during August than in February, according to C. W. Handley, manager of the U. S Employment office.

Handley said he had 782 veterans in his active file during February while the number dropped to 354 in August.

The office had 71 handicapped veterans listed during both February and August, but because the total of all veterans dropped the percentage of handicapped veterans looking for jobs soared from 9.1 to 20 per cent, Handley pointed out.

New applications for employment from both veterans and non-veterans totaled 286 in Mansfield and 19 in Shelby during August, and the USES office made 557 placements in the same period

The increase in placements over the number of new applications came from a backlog of applications on file in the office, Handley explained. Most of those placed were veterans, he said.

"We are still handicapped by an insufficient number of rooms. People are continuing to phone in when they have a room available and we appreciate this, but we can use more than we've been promised," Handley said.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The trucking strike that has plagued New Yorkers in various ways will have an effect on tonight's heavyweight championship fight. . . . Mike Jacobs couldn't find any way to get the aluminum supports for the raised ringside sections transported to Yankee stadium so the customers, however many there will be, will have to depend on neck stretching to get a good look.

Writers who attended Yale's ceremonial "unveiling" of Levi Jackson the other night, agreed that Howie Odell has the most "un-Yale-like" squad they ever saw and that it will be very hard to beat. Jackson, who can really scoot, cut and sidestep tacklers, should do very well with such big guys as Fritz Barzilauskas, Westi Hansen and John Prchlik clearing the way. . . . And if you're worried about the "Old Blue" traditions, there's a Heffelfinger on the varsity squad and another who's a freshman. . . . And old "Heff" himself was very much present at Monday's festivities.

Between Dec. 12 and Jan. 4, the Bradley U. basketball team will entertain Texas Aggies, South Carolina, St. Mary's (California), Stanford, Southern California, Texas Christian, Utah State, Harvard and Oklahoma. Maybe that won't put Peoria on the map, but it ought to put the map on Peoria.

Pollet Annexes Twentieth

By RALPH RODEN
(AP Sports Writer)

They used to call Carl Hubbell the "meal ticket" of the Giants when the great New York lefthander was winning pennants for Bill Terry about a decade ago. Today the experts are pinning the same tag on Howie Pollet, the hungry-looking portsider of St. Louis who will have to receive a good chunk of the glory if the Cardinals go on to win their ninth National league flag.

Pollet hurled his 20th win of the season yesterday as the Cards hammered the New York Giants 10-2 to protect their two-game first place margin over the Brooklyn Dodgers, who downed the Chicago Cubs 4-2.

Thus, the slim portsider became the first hurler in the league to win 20 games and also the first lefthander in the loop to reach the select mark since Hubbell and Melton of the Giants performed the feat in 1937. It also was his 31st complete game. In addition to his numerous starting assignments, Pollet, like Hubbell, has appeared often in relief roles. Last Sunday, Dyer called Pollet in to save a game for Cotton Al Brazle, and he promptly halted the opposing rally.

Enos "Country" Slaughter supplied most of the batting power as Pollet coasted to his 13th win (against two defeats) over the Giants during his career. The North Carolina belter batted in five runs on a homer and single to boost his league-leading runs-batted-in figure to 124.

The Red Birds, who invade Boston tonight for a two-game series with the Braves that will terminate their final eastern trip of the year, have ten games left to play, while the Dodgers, playing host to the Pittsburgh Pirates in a three-game set starting with a doubleheader today, have 12 games left. If St. Louis wins six of its remaining games, the Dodgers will have to cop nine of theirs to tie the Cards for the flag.

Brooklyn wasted little time sewing up its 4-2 victory over Chicago. The Dodgers scored three runs in the first inning, two of them on Dixie Walker's two-base hit.

Joe Hatten started for Brooklyn and after yielding a run in the first, he was relieved in the seventh by little Vic Lombardi after the Bruins pushed their last run home on Billy Jurges' double, a walk and Bob Sturgeon's single.

In the only other scheduled National league game, the red hot Boston Braves scored their fifth straight win by throwing the Cincinnati Reds 8-2.

The Detroit Tigers won the only game scheduled in the American league, defeating the Washington Senators 6-4.

Hank Greenberg paced the Bengals' attack by smashing his 38th homer with two men on in the first inning. The blow tied Greenberg with Boston's Ted Williams for the circuit's home run leadership.

Vaughn is shown congratulating Jockey Eddie Danhauer after the 17-year-old youngster rode Double Back to victory in the Mansfield purse, sixth race, on the "Mansfield Day" program yesterday afternoon at Thistle Down in Cleveland. The 43-day Thistle Down meeting ends Saturday.

Rams Brushing Up on Blocking, Tackling for Oberlin Friday

By BRUCE M'GINTY

Mansfield Madison Rams face one of their toughest opponents Friday night when they tangle with Oberlin high school at 7:30 on the Oberlin gridiron.

Coach Jeff DeHaven has put the Madison gridders through two lengthy drills this week and is giving the Rams offensive blocking and defensive charging in this afternoon's workout. Madison surprised by running over New London, 31 to 13, last Friday.

Blocking and tackling weaknesses must be ironed out if the Rams expect to get by Oberlin, DeHaven pointed out. Oberlin has a strong forward wall which tips the scales at approximately 170 pounds and a pair of powerful backs—White and Helke.

White, a 190-pound fullback, is a triple-threater who delights in smashing lines, while the speedy Helke can make the pigskin talk of wide plays and in the open field.

Apparently playing out of its class, Oberlin dropped a 25 to 0 decision to Elyria. However, the score does not speak for itself.

Elyria kicked off to Oberlin, and it seems that Friday the 13th did the rest. The Pioneers recovered an Oberlin fumble on the kick-off and on the first play scored a touchdown.

Again Elyria kicked off, Oberlin fumbled, and Elyria ran for another score on the first play for the second time in less than two minutes. Oberlin lost its confidence and allowed another six-pointer before settling down to play ball.

The Pioneers found an impregnable line from here on out. A long pass accounted for Elyria's last six points in the second quarter.

The Rams should win Friday providing they play 48 minutes of the football they proved themselves capable of playing against New London.

The Madison coaching staff found out last week-end that most of the Rams' opponents made a successful entry into the 1946 high school football season.

Doylestown walked away from Dalton, 41 to 0, while Orrville had to throw the book at Akron Coventry before winning 13 to 12. Loudonville beat Fredericktown, 12 to 0, and Rittman edged Millersburg.

Blonston, Thoma Play for Crown

Ed Blonston and Pete Thoma will meet over the 36-hole match play route Sunday to determine the 1946 Coolridge golf club championship.

Blonston is rated the slight favorite over Thoma in the competition which gets underway at 9 a. m. He took fifth in the Richland county golf tourney last Sunday and eliminated Joe Mayer one-up in the club meet. Both Blonston and Mayer carded 69's.

Thoma put Pete Zimmerman out of the running in the other semi-final by carding a one-up victory on the 23rd hole.

Frank Cipris meets Tony Schadek for the second flight title while Dale Kaylor and Angelo Taddeo collide for third flight honors.

Indians Subdue Millers, 3 to 2

MINNEAPOLIS —(AP)— Indianapolis, after finally subduing Minneapolis four games to three in the semi-finals, is enroute home today to prepare for the American Association's seven-game final playoffs opening at Louisville Thursday night.

The winner of the finals will meet the International league champions in the Little World Series.

The Tribe handed Minneapolis its fourth defeat in the series last night, 3-2, each team scoring all its runs in single innings. The Millers, getting their two in the fourth, appeared headed for victory but the Indians bunched four hits—including Sibi Sisti's double—for three runs in the eighth.

Ho-Hum, Louis At It Again

Tami To Go Way of All Heavyweights Tonight

NEW YORK—(AP)—Joe Louis makes the 23rd defense of his heavyweight title tonight at Yankee stadium, with Tami Mauriello of the Bronx being served up as the sacrificial goat.

There appears to be little doubt in anybody's mind except possibly Mauriello's that Louis will retain his crown by a knockout, but some 30,000 are expected to be drawn to the big ball yard on the chance of seeing a lot of fight while it lasts.

In the latter respect, Tami has something of a tradition to uphold. He is a barkeep, and so was Tony Galento, who for a brief time one night gave Louis a humdinger of a fight and bounced him off the floor once before being beaten into hamburger by Joe's fists.

Tami is supposed to be of the Galento breed. He knows only to move forward and slug it out. While this ordinarily is considered an admirable trait in a prizefighter, it cannot be recommended as a method of fighting Joe Louis.

Knowing Tami's ring habits, the odds-makers are almost positive he will get it early. They are offering even money that Louis knocks him out inside five rounds, and 9 to 1—and even greater—that the champ wins. They have gotten very little action on either count.

This much more can be said: that, while Mauriello does not appear to stack up as a serious threat to Joe's title, he would seem to have as good a chance as anyone else. He boasts a much better record than a majority of those who have tried to fight the big Negro.

Though a notoriously poor trainer, Tami has, after all, lost only seven times in 77 starts and has knocked out some pretty good men. He has won 12 straight since 1944, and in his most recent bout stopped Bruce Woodcock, the British heavyweight champ, in five rounds. Woodcock knocked out Gus Lesnevich in a non-title bout in London last night.

'Papa' Bears Roll Over Akron, 38-13

AKRON —(INS)— The powerful Chicago Bears held an unbroken string of four victories today after ripping the Akron Bears, of the American loop, 38-13, in a pre-season exhibition at the Akron Rubber Bowl last night.

Paced by prewar star Sid Luckman, Chicago racked up a 31-0 lead in the first half, but Akron came back to outplay the Windy City second stringers in the second half, outscoring them, 13-7, and racking up nine first downs to Chicago's four.

Old Timers Trip Stars

Old Timers went two up in their challenge softball series with the All Stars by hanging a convincing 5 to 2 defeat on the younger men last night at Prospect park.

The Old Timers piled up a 4 to 1 lead in the first three innings and had little trouble coming out on top behind the fine moundwork of Carver and Aid Geiger. The two Old Timers pitchers permitted only six hits while their mates pounded Kenny Windsor for 10.

The clubs are playing a best three-of-five game series. The oldsters won the first decision of the set, 5 to 0.

Long Defensive Drill In Store For Tyger Footballers Today

Mansfield Tyger footballers are in for a long defensive drill this afternoon to correct mistakes made in the seasonal opener with Marion last Friday.

Coach Paul Snyder's pigskin aggregation slaughtered the Harding Presidents, 33 to 13, but come up against a much stronger foe this Friday night when Cleveland East invades Stadium field. The East eleven walloped Cleveland Shaw 25 to 6 last week.

The Blue Bombers' cast for Friday night's gridiron presentation includes nine lettermen and a host of other players who saw such 1945 action. Snyder's charges had a tough time downing East, 18-6, last season.

Motion pictures of the Marion game, incidentally they were the best movies ever taken of the Tygers in action, showed many glaring defensive mistakes. However, Snyder and his assistants have been working hard this week to eliminate the errors.

Tomorrow's short session will include a light offensive drill and the Bengals will run through their list of plays. Mansfield used only seven plays in defeating Marion but will have to dig deep in their bag of tricks against East.

The Tyger club, Senior high school boosters' organization, will see the movies of the Marion contest tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium. The meeting is for club members only.

Vern Hoffman will give a scouting report on the Cleveland team. Snyder will discuss the Marion conflict and Bill Keefe, grid official, will discuss rule changes.

The Tyger club gives members of both football teams a light lunch after all games at Stadium field.

DELAYS VERDICT

War Tribunal Sets Sept. 30 as New Date For Decision.

NUERNBERG—(U.P.)—The international war crimes tribunal has postponed announcement of its verdict on 22 Nazi leaders and seven organizations for one week from Sept. 23 to Sept. 30.

No reason for the delay was given in the brief official announcement. The court recessed Aug. 31 to decide the fate of the Nazi leaders, after hearing testimony for nearly 10 months.

Justices representing Britain, Russia, France and the United States heard the evidence and are determining the verdict.

OHIO JOBLESS REACH LOWEST POINT IN 1946

Civilians Drop Off Rolls at Faster Rate Than Veterans.

COLUMBUS —(UP)— The ranks of Ohio's jobless have shrunk to the smallest number in 1946 with applications down 45 per cent from last January, the Ohio Bureau of unemployment compensation reported today.

A steady downward trend in applications and benefits has been apparent since the first of the year, said BUC Administrator Charles H. Jones, with civilians dropping off the rolls at a faster rate than war veterans.

The slower pace of veteran reabsorption in the state's economy was explained this way:

1. Veterans may draw payments 52 weeks whereas civilians are allowed benefits only 22 weeks. These latter may still be unemployed after payments stopped.

2. Veterans are the chief victims of the housing shortage.

Jones pointed to these August figures in substantiation of his report:

New applications filed by civilians—a decline to 11,968, a drop of 29 per cent from July; by veterans—decrease to 15,182, a 20 per cent drop. Combined, these figures represent a 67 per cent reduction from last February.

Continued applications by civilians and veterans—down 20 per cent from July and 45 per cent less than the year's high month, January.

Total payments—$7,583,088. Of this, veterans received $5,055,016, and Ohio law claimants were paid $2,528,972.

News Is Bad For Ladies; Good For Men

WASHINGTON — (UP)— The ladies got the bad news today that they can expect another hosiery shortage around Christmas.

For the gents, there was a happier note. The national association of retail clothiers and furnishers said a survey showed that a majority of clothers expect increased deliveries of men's suits, dress shirts and other scarce merchandise within the next 12 months.

A spokesman for the civilian production administration gave three reasons for the prospective women's hosiery shortage:

1. The amount of available nylon was cut 15 per cent this month, with another cut expected in October.

2. Stocking production declined during the summer.

3. Demand is increasing.

One bright spot is that production of silk stockings is going up.

$11,000 READY FOR NEW 'PORT

Galion-Crestline Airfield Clean-up Drive Planned.

GALION—More than $11,000 of the $18,000 worth of stock needed to finance the proposed Galion-Crestline airport has been subscribed, it was announced last night at a meeting of the airport committee at the American Legion home.

A drive to secure the remaining $7,000 will be made during the coming week, a committee spokesman said.

The committee also revealed that S. B. Randall, Ohio Aviation Board engineer, had recently inspected five locations in the Galion-Crestline area submitted as possible airport sites to the board by the committee.

Randall said the board would approve the site adjacent to the Fairway Inn as a Class "B" airport. The site includes 85.36 acres north of Route 30-S, adjacent to the Inn.

Provided the Civil Aeronautics Authority approves the site, the land will be purchased and turned over to the municipal government of the two cities for operation, and funds will be distributed among the shareholders.

3—In Memoriam

IN MEMORY of our loved ones, Ray and Nancy Jean Cotsenmayer, who died one year ago today, Sept. 18, 1945.

They would not want the ones they love
To grieve for them today;
We must not say that they are dead,
for they are just away.
We all will miss them here, we know they're happy there.
And memories of them will bring new comfort every day.
As we recall—they are not dead, they are just away.

DRY-FAIR LAW TO BE ENFORCED AT SHELBY FAIR

Action Conforms to State Law; Large Entry List Seen.

SHELBY—Shelby will be dry during the Community Street fair to be held on Main street next week Wednesday through Saturday, Sept. 25 to 28.

Notices went out Tuesday to liquor permit holders within the city limits to close their place of business from 6 p. m. Wednesday, Sept. 25, until the fair closes, Mayor Frank Long revealed late yesterday.

The action is in conformity with general adherance to the state law resurrected by the Women's Christian Temperance Union that denies the sale of alcoholic beverages within a two-mile radius of an agricultural fair.

The state liquor store is expected to close here also.

Mayor Long disclosed that he had instructed Shelby police to enforce the 1888 state statute against selling liquor during the fair.

One of the largest entries of farm produce is expected for the fair which is being revived this year by the Shelby Junior Chamber of Commerce for the first time since it was cancelled during the war years.

The fair board, which acts as the executive committee for this year's street fair, includes John Russell, general chairman; Clark Beal, fair superintendent; Pete Erchenbrecher, Louis Wright, Kenneth Swank, Howard Guthrie, Fred McKinney, Dick Cook, Carl Laughbaum, Mrs. Ernest Stevens and Ed Lubbe.

The fair will open on Wednesday night and continue through Saturday night. F. E. Gooding's shows and rides will highlight the mid-way on downtown Main street.

Shelby merchants are sponsoring concessions this year. Several thousand premium books have been distributed here and other areas.

WASHINGTON'S OKAY SOUGHT

Independent Union Favored By Bucyrus Workers.

BUCYRUS—Approval in Washington, D. C., of the employe vote cast by workers at the Crawford Steel Foundry company here is all that is necessary to put workers at the plant under the control of an independent union, which was approved by an overwhelming majority in ballots cast here Monday.

The independent union, organized here last winter during a back-to-work movement while a CIO United Steel worker strike was in progress, was given recognition recently by the NLRB which conducted the Monday election.

Workers voted 134 to 31 to be governed in labor relations by the independent union, which has as its officers, George Hemminger, president; Marjorie Schaffsta, secretary; Clemens Keiffer, treasurer; Clayton Young, Dale Weston, Steve Crokie and Roy Tilton, trustees.

Let's get Down to Earth about
DIAMONDS SHALL WE?
A man in love has his head in the clouds and is filled with romantic thoughts.
But, for the moment, let's get down to earth and discuss the matter; without its romantic aspect for your own sake.
A diamond is a simple article of measurable value . . . to an expert. But only to an expert. To the average person like yourself, it is an unknown quantity and you must rely to a great extent on your jeweler's word for its value.
To boil it down even further, regardless of the apparent beauty and size of the diamond you select, it is pretty much to your jeweler whether you get your money's worth or not.
So you can see right there that selecting your jeweler carefully implies the selection of the diamond ring.
Look at it this way. We, being experts, choose our diamonds with real "know-how". We price them in accordance with our costs. Then we sell them with the knowledge that we intend to be in business for a long time. Most of our customers are sent in or brought in by other customers we have had the satisfying experience of dealing with us.
We do not promise "miracles" or "bargains" . . . "or diamonds by rocket from Mars". But we do promise your full dollar's worth and we're sure you're not looking for more.

Memo: Remember to hunt for meat for next Sunday's dinner—but don't expect to find it.

Wallace Should Quit Cabinet Post

AS THE DAYS pass, and as the disturbance and discord caused by Henry A. Wallace's speech in New York City last Thursday night becomes more fully realized, it is disconcerting to note that Mr. Wallace, as secretary of commerce, NOT as a private citizen, announces intention of making more speeches along the same general line.

Mr. Wallace's expression of his own foreign policy views, which run counter to those of Secretary of State Byrnes, quite naturally created a disturbed feeling in European countries, in which a statement by one cabinet member is regarded as binding on the whole cabinet.

It is this misunderstanding of the "popping off" tendency on the part of some highly placed public men in this country that causes wonderment in other parts of the world, where "freedom of speech" is not so highly prized.

As pointed out by DeWitt Mackenzie, Associated Press analyst, "No member of the British cabinet ever makes a statement which might even remotely affect government policy without having discussed it with the premier and his colleagues." A member of the British cabinet who violates this code would be forced to resign and his statement would be immediately disavowed by the government, Mackenzie says.

Drew Pearson's column, elsewhere on this page, reveals Wallace's approach to President Truman in gaining consent to make the much-discussed speech, and evidences the naivete of the president in failing to recognize the explosive nature of some of the statements therein.

If, as Mr. Wallace says, his later speeches are to follow the New York pattern, and to oppose United States foreign policy as it has been outlined by Secretary of State Byrnes, resignation as secretary of commerce would appear to be proper procedure, thus assuring freedom to cater to the ideas of any group that calls upon him to speak, without further embarrassing the administration or making more dificult the herculean task being performed by the capable Mr. Byrnes as secretary of state.

Population Shift Affects Millions

MASS MIGRATION is not limited to the distressed peoples of Europe. In only three years 27 million persons in the United States left home for somewhere else. Of these, 12 million left for military service, but all the rest were civilians, shifting from county to county, state to state, coast to coast.

The servicemen drew some followers while stationed within the country. Industrial areas drew large numbers to work in war plants. A considerable amount of family rearrangement went on, as relatives doubled up when men went overseas. In all, one-fifth of the nation's population pulled up stakes and at least tentatively drove them in at another site during that period, says the census bureau.

These migrants saw more of their own land than they ever saw before, and many of them decided there were other places even nicer than home. But now that families are together again, and they might be able to move to a section of the country where they particularly like the scenery and climate, most of them are caught by the housing situation. So the migration, which probably would have continued at a rapid rate, has frozen spots.

Discuss Future of County Fair

APPEARANCE of increasing interest in the subject of continuing to hold county fairs in Richland county, with indication of majority approval of securing a new site for this enterprise, opens the way for general discussion of the subject, including any suggestions that interested residents of city and county may care to make.

If a creditable county fair is to be revived, with modern features added to the traditional fair attractions, a new location appears to be among the first needs, as the present fair grounds have limitations which would make it inadvisable to expend any considerable funds for improvements.

Then, too, the present site is needed for residential expansion in that area and reasonable property value would probably justify disposing of the approximate 29 acres as building sites.

Richland county, for some reason, has not maintained the public interest in its county fairs that has been evidenced in some other counties of the state, and if the idea is to be followed through there should be assurance of enough energy, initiative and support to place it high among county fairs of Ohio.

Customer Again To Be 'Right'

THE National Retail Dry Goods association recently observed that retail trade has a job to do in the field of reconversion. That job consists of bringing back, as rapidly as possible, prewar standards of service—standards which could not be maintained with the labor and material shortages caused by war.

First of all, the association suggests, stores should get rid of arrogant, bad-mannered personnel who had to be kept on the payroll in wartime because replacements were not available. In other words, stress common courtesy.

Next, departments should be adequately staffed in order to eliminate the war custom of standing in line. This will take time in localities where labor is still short but customers will expect it.

Stores should also, in the opinion of the association, eye merchandise carefully with a view to eliminating the shoddy. During the war years, merchants were helpless and were forced to sell whatever they could buy. Conditions are gradually improving, and efficient buyers can obtain more reliable goods.

It is recalled that ten years ago many were saying: "You couldn't get us into the next war for love or money"—and as it now appears, neither of those inducements entered into it.

A psychiatrist optimistically predicts that children will begin behaving better by spring—which seems to forecast a long, hard winter.

THINK NOTHING OF IT

Wallace's Letter To Truman Was Factor In Securing OK On Speech

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Many of the state, war and navy advisers close to President Truman were amazed at the approval he gave to Henry Wallace's controversial New York speech without consulting them.

The secret of this presidential O. K. was largely a personal and highly confidential letter which Wallace wrote Truman. The two men had several talks together, but the Wallace letter probably counted more than the talks.

After studying Wallace's arguments, Truman began to wonder whether Wallace might not be right, and he finally concluded that it would be worth while to have Wallace's ideas set before the public so the public could judge for itself.

This column has now obtained a copy of the confidential Wallace letter, and because of its importance, hereby publishes it in large part:

"The President
"The White House
"My Dear Mr. President:

"I hope you will excuse this long letter. Personally I hate to write long letters, and I hate to receive them.

"My only excuse is that this subject is a very important one—probably the most important in the world today. I checked with you about this last Thursday and you suggested after the cabinet meeting on Friday that you would like to have my views.

"I have been increasingly disturbed about the trend of international affairs since the end of the war, and I am even more troubled by the apparently growing feeling among the American people that another war is coming and the only way that we can head it off is to arm ourselves to the teeth. Yet all of past history indicates that an armament race does not lead to peace but to war. The months just ahead may well be the crucial period which will decide whether the civilized world will go down in destruction after the five or ten years needed for several nations to arm themselves with atomic bombs. Therefore I want to give you my views on how the present trend toward conflict might be averted.

"As secretary of commerce I talk to a good many businessmen, and I find them very much concerned over the size of the federal budget and the burden of the national debt.

We Fumble in Dark.

"Of course, dollars and cents are not the most important reason why we all want a peaceful world. The fundamental reason is that we do not wish to go through another war — and especially an atomic war which will undoubtedly be directed primarily against civilian populations and may well mean the end of modern civilization.

"Yet are we really concentrating all our efforts on a program to build a lasting peace? There can be no doubt that the American people want and expect that their leaders will work for an enduring peace. But the people must necessarily leave to their leaders the specific ways and means to this objective.

"I think that at the moment the people feel that the outlook for the elimination for war is dark, that other nations are willfully obstructing American efforts to achieve a permanent peace.

"How do American actions since V-J day appear to other nations? I mean by actions the concrete things like $13 billion for the war and navy departments, the Bikini tests of the atomic bomb and continued production of bombs, the plan to arm Latin America with our weapons, production of B-29s and planned production of B-36s, and the effort to secure air bases spread over half the globe from which the other half of the globe can be bombed. I cannot but feel that these actions must make it look to the rest of the world as if we were only paying lip service to peace at the conference table.

These facts rather make it appear either (1) that we are preparing ourselves to win the war which we regard as inevitable or (2) that we are trying to build up a predominance of force to intimidate the rest of mankind. How would it look to us if Russia had the atomic bomb and we did not, if Russia had 10,000-mile bombers and air bases within a thousand miles of our coast lines and we did not?

No lasting Security.

"Some of the military men and self-styled 'realists' are saying:

"'What's wrong with trying to build up a predominance of force? The only way to preserve peace is for this country to be so well armed that no one will dare attack us. We know that America will never start a war.'

"The flaw in this policy is simply that it will not work. In a world of atomic bombs and other revolutionary new weapons, such as radioactive poison gases and biological warfare, a peace maintained by a predominance of force is no longer possible.

"Why is this so? The reasons are clear:

"First—Atomic warfare is cheap and easy compared with old-fashioned war. Within a very few years several countries can have atomic bombs and other atomic weapons. Compared with the cost of large armies and the manufacture of old-fashioned weapons, atomic bombs cost very little and require only a relatively small part of a nation's production plant and labor force.

Second—So far as winning a war is concerned, having more bombs—even many more bombs—than the other fellow is no longer a decisive advantage. If another nation had enough bombs to eliminate all of our principal cities and our heavy industry, it wouldn't help us very much if we had 10 times as many bombs as we needed to do the same to them.

"Third—And most important, the very fact that several nations have atomic bombs will inevitably result in a neurotic, fear-ridden, itching-trigger psychology in all the peoples of the world, and because of our wealth and vulnerability we would be among the most seriously affected. Atomic war will not require vast and time-consuming preparations, the mobilization of large armies, the conversion of a large proportion of a country's industrial plants to the manufacture of weapons. In a world armed with atomic weapons, some incident will lead to the use of those weapons.

A Preventive War.

"There is a school of military thinking which recognizes these facts, recognizes that when several nations have atomic bombs, a war which will destroy modern civilization will result and that no nation or combination of nations can win such a war. This school of thought therefore advocates a 'preventive war,' an attack on Russia NOW before Russia has atomic bombs.

"This scheme is not only immoral but stupid. If we should attempt to destroy all the principal Russian cities and her heavy industry, we might well succeed. But the immediate countermeasure which such an attack would call forth is the prompt occupation of all continental Europe by the Red army. Would we be prepared to destroy the cities of all Europe in trying to finish what we had started? This idea is so contrary to all the basic instincts and principles of the American people that any such action would be possible only under a dictatorship at home.

"Thus the 'predominance of force' idea, and the notion of a 'defensive attack' are both unthinkable. The only solution is the one which you have so wisely advanced and which forms the basis of the Moscow statement on atomic energy. That solution consists of mutual trust and confidence among nations, atomic disarmament, and an effective system of enforcing that disarmament.

(The Wallace letter to President Truman will be concluded in tomorrow's column.)

Timely Editorial

Clark Is No Quitter.

"But we'll work it out somehow, and we'll stay there until we do."

The quotation is Gen. Mark W. Clark's formula for getting along with the Russians, with whom, as the American occupation commander in Austria, he has had as much trouble as anybody.

He told on his arrival in Washington, for a breather and a chance to report, of the Russian propensity to claim everything in sight as a former Nazi asset and thus classed as reparations. This propensity he must resist, or Austria soon would be hopeless of becoming again a going, and self-supporting, concern.

It was at that point he delivered himself of the dogged formula quoted, which could well serve as a slogan of American diplomacy, in Europe and throughout the world.—Detroit News.

Assignment: America

Veterans "Readjusting" Better Than Civilians.

(Editor's Note: Kenneth L. Dixon has just completed a seven-month, 15,000-mile tour of America. Following is one of a series of articles based on his conclusions after talking to thousands of people in more than 40 states.)

* * *

WASHINGTON — It has been but a few days since this correspondent returned to the nation's capital, yet already scores of people have asked:

"How are the veterans readjusting to peacetime life?"

The answer — assuming from the third-person nature of the question that it is being asked by a non-veteran—is, "better than you are, chum, better than you are!"

It is both difficult and dangerous to attempt explanation of such a statement. . . . Difficult, because the well-meaning worries fully convinced the world during the war that the veteran would find humdrum peacetime life hard to take. . . . Dangerous, because any such generalization as this is treading on touchy territory.

Nevertheless, conversations with law enforcement officers, educators, employers, legislators, judges, veterans' families and veterans across the country have convinced this correspondent that it is true.

For one thing, the average veteran realized he had an adjustment to make. Also, he had the advantage of already having made a definite physical and geographic transition.

That is to say, he had changed from military uniform into mufti. He had come home from Tokyo, Berlin or Camp Blanding to Kalamazoo, Keokuk or Burlington. Therefore, he had a precedent for change—a habit-blaster or ice-breaker which made additional transition easier to take.

Thus, he already was well into the readjustment routine by the time he returned to the postwar workday world.

Unfortunately, the average non-veteran had no such personal precedent. He was not told, nor did he realize, that he had any sort of adjustment to make—unless it was to adjust himself to the homecoming veterans.

Furthermore, he still was doing business at the same old stand, and the end of the war, while bringing him relief from many frustrations, simultaneously robbed him of an undeniable inspiration which had been an invaluable shot in the arm during the preceding four years.

Finally, he underwent little if any physical change which might have mentally conditioned him to face additional changes inevitable in the postwar world.

Thus, he neither realized that any readjustment was necessary in his case nor did he have any precedent to pave the way.

To support the foregoing theory, these are a few facts which will be obvious to anyone touring the nation and taking a personal poll:

Despite rumors to the contrary, nine out of ten veterans who have sought employment have found it—even though non-vets still hold the better jobs. Furthermore, employers for the most part say the vets are the more stable workers.

Educators endorse that latter theory, saying that the veterans returning to school (more than 1,200,000 already enrolled this fall and another half-million kept out by over-crowding) make better grades and work harder and more seriously than non-veterans.

Law-makers, law-enforcers and judges contend that the current crime wave cannot be laid to the ex-serviceman's door, that it is more a juvenile delinquency deal than anything else, and that more non-veterans—proportionately speaking—are criminal offenders than veterans.

Psychologists tell you that veterans as a group not only are younger, healthier and better educated than the average American, but also are more adaptable.

In fact, there seem to be only two brackets in which the veteran clearly is caught short nowadays—divorce and housing. And even they have an undeniable interrelationship.

More than half the veterans still are forced to live with their parents, relatives or friends, which definitely is a contributing factor to the high divorce rate in their ranks.

The other factors involved in the marital difficulties of the ex-servicemen are fairly obvious. Absence, to paraphrase the old cliche, makes the heart go yonder as well as grow fonder, and breeds misunderstanding more often than it does a deeper love.

Otherwise, the vets are very well readjusted, thank you, and if you thought otherwise, it's because the civilian world has not yet mentally absorbed the ex-servicemen as a class.

"Twiddle and Twaddle" Befog Campaign Issues.

WASHINGTON—We are just about to enter another election campaign for congress.

It is the first national election since the war. For that reason if no other it might be hoped it would be on a higher plane than some in our past.

But if that is to be so there will have to be a decided change from the preliminaries. They have been pretty discouraging, with twiddle and twaddle and double talk and tags and labels tossed around by both sides.

Democrats are running under the mantle of President Roosevelt, beneath which, if you peer closely enough, you can see the figure of Harry S. Truman burdened with a weighty document entitled "The Truman Program," but which exists mostly only on that paper, and not on the statute books.

It's a fine program—if only his southern Democrats did not conspire with Republicans to block it.

Among Republicans it is whispered that some people would like to present a program to the voters, but apparently the leaders think they can win on the Truman default without risking the chance of saying what they might do. At least nobody with that startling idea has got to Mr. B. Carroll Reece, chairman of the Republican national committee and recognized agent of what is called "the old guard."

Mr. Reece's chief campaign issue, which he is shouting up and down the land wherever he can get an audience, is something known as "Communism in the Democratic party and Washington."

This sounds pretty horrendous until you take a look at the easy and amiable gentlemen around Harry Truman, mostly from the South and Middle West. You've seen their pictures in the papers. Do they frighten you? Smile if you call them Communists. Or if you call Bob Hannegan, Democratic national chairman, a Communist.

But Mr. Reece figures it out for you. Take, for example an excerpt from a speech over the week-end in Mr. Truman's home state touching, at the moment, on "The current radical attempt to undermine the government":

"How," asks Mr. Reece, "can such things happen under an administration headed by your fellow Missourian, Harry S. Truman? I would be the last to suggest that Mr. Truman has Communist leanings. I know he does not, and so do you. But if Mr. Hannegan, in his bids for radical support for the Democrat administration, does not represent the viewpoint of Mr. Truman, how does it happen that Mr. Hannegan remains in Mr. Truman's cabinet and as chairman of the Democrat national committee? That is a question I shall not attempt to answer, but it would be interesting if Mr. Truman should elect to answer it."

What would happen if you elect a Republican congress?

According to Mr. Reece, you will get the following: Reestablishment of orderly, honest and capable government; an early end to unjustifiable controls; drastic reduction in "sprawling bureaucracies"; a substantial cut in taxes; sound currency; revitalization of the American production machine; a square deal for labor; extermination of "the alien-minded vermin who are undermining the government"; encouragement of the free enterprise system; truth about the government; a real investigation of the billions of public money "squandered during the war."

Ulysses S. Grant could have run on that platform after the Civil war—and probably did—and so could the other beneficent, bewhiskered gentlemen who followed him leisurely in the 70's and 80's.

Not a word in there about the big problems that almost engulf us today.

"Our candidates this year are not running on issues of the past," concludes Mr. Reece.

Then, to be absolutely positive that he, himself, has not let the slightest heresy pass his lips, he emphasizes as he winds up that our government is "a representative republic," and it is the Republican party's business to maintain it. Some of us like to think we are in the way of becoming a democracy.

Political speakers are having poor crowds this year.

More Negroes Vote In Southern States.

WASHINGTON — In Georgia, for the first time, the Negroes voted in really important numbers this year—80,000 seems the best estimate of the Negro vote. Elsewhere, they have voted in greater numbers than ever before.

The result—and Southerners of every political stripe are agreed that one follows on the other—has been that in most states with an important Negro minority the movement to disenfranchise the Negro once and for all has been greatly strengthened. This movement exists not only in Talmadge's Georgia or Bilbo's Mississippi.

It also exists in the liberal oasis, Alabama, where the racial issue was not raised in this year's political contest. That is the measure of the depth of feeling on the racial issue in the deep South.

Georgia and Mississippi, if the plans of the Bilbo and Talmadge political camps succeed, intend to imitate the example of South Carolina. The Supreme Court decision, which confirmed the right of Negro citizens to vote in the Democratic primaries, was based on the state laws of Texas.

South Carolina has in effect by-passed the decision merely by repealing all its state laws dealing with the primary.

In Alabama another device has been proposed to accomplish the same end. It is called the Boswell amendment, and the citizens of Alabama will either approve or reject it this November. There is no doubt in anyone's mind as to its purpose; its sponsors have stated frankly that it is designed to keep the Negroes from voting. The vote would be restricted to those who can "understand and explain" the Constitution.

There is a powerful party in almost every Southern state of those who believe sincerely that qualified Negroes should be given the vote. Sometimes this is a mere pious and public wish, but more often it is sincere. Yet all these men are gradualists. They would slowly work the Negroes into the existing political system, in such a way that a bloc Negro vote, the nightmare of all white Southerners, should be avoided.

Such men believe, rightly or wrongly, that if the South is given time it will eventually reach a point where the Negroes can achieve political and economic equality with the whites. But it is unrealistic to blink the fact that social segregation is still a firmly rooted part of the whole Southern cultural pattern. Even Southern CIO leaders will tell you that it will be generations before Jim Crow is eliminated.

It may surprise many Northerners to find that in the CIO itself a mild form of Jim Crow is practiced. There is complete voting and economic equality between whites and Negroes in a union, but at a meeting the whites will sit on one side of the hall, and the Negroes on the other. If a union social function is scheduled, there is one for the whites and one for the Negroes, and they take place under separate roofs.

The CIO in fact practices what the Southern gradualists preach: political and economic equality, and social segregation.

It is fatuous to imagine that more can be achieved in the measurable future. And any Southerner, CIO leaders included, will tell you that even this will not happen overnight. It will take a long, long time.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

THESE are exciting days . . . world championship boxing, world championship baseball, world championship peace blunders all coming at once.

* * *

Sen. Tom Connally says "We are seeking world highways of peace" and resisted the temptation to add "and fewer back seat drivers in our own party."

* * *

When we got into the war Alf Landon, a consistent critic of the administration said "politics stops at the water's edge." That's what President Truman thought when he went to Bermuda but he came back too soon.

* * *

The political tides now roll from America to lap the shores of every country in the world. But if a Republican could support a Democratic administration war policy it would seem that Democrats could support Democratic administration peace policies.

* * *

Jimmie Byrnes would be a happier man if intra-party politics stopped at the edge of the Potomac.

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

LITTLE WOBBLENOSE LOOKS UP

Sometimes life seems mostly chance,
Saved or lost by just a glance.
—Peter Rabbit.

"Did you see that?" squeaked the Mouse as the big bird flew toward the Green Forest.

Peter ought to know about that. Many times a quick glance at just the right instant has been the saving of his life. So Peter is always looking this way, that way, and the other way. He would tell you that to feel safe and be safe a Rabbit can never forget to look every way; that to look all ways but one can be just as bad as not looking at all. A long time ago when he was as small as his grandson, Little Wobblenose, and like him starting out in the Great World, his mother had given him a rule of action handed down in the Rabbit family since way back when the world was young.

"If you would live long," said she, "you must look quick, think quick, act quick."

Peter wasn't around to pass that along to his small grandson, but the later was learning it for himself. That was the hard way, but sometimes it is the best way. Lessons learned that way have less likely to be forgotten.

One of the surest ways of becoming afraid is to see others afraid. Fear is catching. Nothing is more catching. Little Wobblenose had a Wood Mouse for a neighbor. The small Rabbit had not supposed that any one could be so constantly afraid. He was forever darting into hiding. The passing of a shadow, the rustle of a leaf, the snapping of a twig, would send him scurrying out of sight to some hiding-place. When he returned he never failed to first peep out from under cover of some sort to look this way and that way before venturing out.

It wasn't long before the small Rabbit was acting the same way. He was continually running from nothing. The Mouse noticed it. "You're learning," said he, nodding his head in approval. "Who runs from nothing is not likely to fail to run from something. It is better to be too fearful than not fearful enough. Who runs needlessly can always return. Remember that, my young friend. I've noticed that you look around everywhere but up. Why do you so seldom look up?"

"Why should I look up!" asked the small Rabbit.

Just then the Moused arted back under a fern. And because he did Little Wobblenose ran back into the bramble-tangle. Then he peeked out to watch for the Mouse. The Mouse was peeping out from under the fern and looking up. Little Wobblenose looked up. At first he saw nothing but the blue blue sky with a white cloud ship sailing across it. Then he saw a bird sailing around in circles. It didn't look like a very big bird, not at first. The little Rabbit looked over at his friend, the Mouse. The latter was carefully keeping under cover, but still looking up.

"I do believe he is watching that bird. I wonder why. Is he afraid? Why should he be? What can a bird up in the sky do to some one on the ground?" thought Little Wobblenose, and looked up again.

That bird was twice as big as he had looked to be before and growing bigger right before his eyes. It was no longer sailing around in circles. It was coming down and coming down fast. That is what was making it seem to grow bigger and bigger and bigger. It came down so fast it quite took the little Rabbit's breath away just to watch it. Suddenly it spread great wings and tail and checked its speed, flew a few strokes then dropped down among the bushes out of sight.

Almost at once it was flapping back up in the air. Then Little Wobblenose saw that in great claws, called talons, it was clutching something that twisted and turned. It was a Snake.

"Did you see that?" squeaked the Mouse as the big bird flew toward the Green Forest.

"Yes," said Little Wobblenose. "Who was it?"

"It was Redtail the Hawk, and what happened to that Snake can happen to you or to me if we forget to look up," replied the Mouse in his squeaky voice.

"I'll never, never forget to look up," said the small Rabbit. What a lot there is to learn. I wonder if I ever will know it all."

"No," said the Mouse. "No one ever does. If you learn enough to live you'll do well."

The next story, "A Foolish Wish."

SOCIAL NOTES
A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

On the society page of Sept. 7, 1921 were the following items:

"With Mrs. E. J. Gilbert as president, Mrs. Reid Carpenter, as first vice president, Mrs. D. J. Meese second vice-president, Mrs. Carvill Gorman, secretary and Mrs. J. M. Cook as treasurer, members of the Travelers' club are ready to begin a year's work of unusual interest. The program that has been arranged by the committee, which is comprised of Dr. Ada Ford, Mrs. E. K. Bacon, and Mrs. H. M. Weaver deals mostly with subjects pertinent to America, things that are of interest to American men and women. The first scheduled meeting is a luncheon at Westbrook Country club, and a reminiscent feature of this session will be favorite poems from "McGuffey's reader."

"From three to five were the hours Tuesday afternoon (Sept. 6, 1921) when Miss Louise Bissman served tea to 25 friends for the pleasure of Miss Beatrice Perry. The dining table, at which Miss Mary Beverstock and Miss Amy Carpenter poured, was particularly lovely and unique with its trims of silver baskets holding vivid purple asters, topped by mammoth golden bows. Four kewpies, quaintly dressed, were suspended from the chandelier and represented members of the bridal party."

* * *

"Little Miss Marjorie Sughrue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Harry Sughrue, Burnese avenue was hostess to fourteen friends at the home of Mrs. John Decker, Woodville road, in honor of her 6th birthday. The usual unconventional games and contests delighted the children during the hours of 4 to 7 o'clock." Could that "Unconventional" be a typographical error?

Marion Hale a fashion authority of twenty five years ago wrote the following. "The proper hat for the proper occasion is a fashion necessity upon which even wartime economy has not left its mark While the elaborate evening and afternoon hats run to paradise and extravagant birds and ornaments, hats can be just as striking and as expensive too—without too much display A hat of commanding beauty is a Maria Guy model. Its large proportions are of grace and artistry. The brim and part of the brim are of black hatter's plush, while the brim is widened by an extension of lace. It suggests a renaissance frame for the face. The brim is slightly curved, suggesting a ripple, but this is, as the French say, a mere soupcon of a curve."

In the "Coming and Going column of a quarter century ago we find:

"Mrs. Hale Sturges, Park Avenue West, is a guest of Mrs. Harry Devin, Mt. Vernon.

Miss Helen Cramer left this morning for Rossfield, Minn., where she will remain for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Kreisher motored to Delaware yesterday where they spent the day with friends.

Mrs. Marie Vanderpool, of Spokane, Wash., is visiting Mrs. Mary Baird, South Diamond street."

LENTS-SHADE.

WILLARD — Miss Mary Joyce Lents, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Lents of Willard, was united in marriage on Saturday, September 14, to Mr. Edward H. Shade, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Shade of Mansfield. The Rev. C. D. Wright performed the double-ring ceremony in the United Brethren church. Attendants were Miss Donna Marie Lents, sister of the bride, and Mr. Robert Allingham. The bride wore an aqua ensemble and her bridesmaid was in white. Both had corsages of red rose buds. A wedding dinner followed for the immediate family in the Lents residence. After a short honeymoon in the southern part of the state, the couple plan, to reside in Crestline.

Chocolate and cocoa stains are treated the same. For white cottons or linens, dip fabric up and down in hot water; wash in hot suds, bleach any remaining stain with hydrogen peroxide, rinse well. For any washable colored fabric, wash in lukewarm suds, and use carbon tetrachloride to remove grease spots caused by cream. With either type of fabric, remove stains before laundering.

Brown Heads Fall Color Schemes

By BARBARA BUNDSCHU
(United Press Fashion Writer)

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—If there's a woman who holds a mirror up to fashion and makes it all her own, she'll have a wardrobe this fall with:

Lots of brown in it—frequently combined with black; a tricky neckline or two; some ingenious hip draping, and a really glamorous evening gown or two.

At least, those are the seasonal trends which one New York department store chooses to spotlight. The clothes Bloomingdale's picked for illustration are from the medium to high priced wholesale houses, available in other stores throughout the country.

The new boom for brown led off the show with a series of costumes for day-long wear. Three of the six selections were accented with black.

One tweed suit was collared in black velvet; another suit in gabardine was trimmed with jet buttons which similarly adorned a Moire evening dress.

HOOVER-BACHELDER

BELLVILLE—Miss Clara Marguerite Hoover, niece of Mrs. Artie M. Strong, Bellville, Ohio, became the bride of Richard C. Bachelder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Bachelder, Bellville, Sept. 7 at 7:30 p. m. in the parsonage of the Palmyra Church of Christ. Rev. M. M. Scott performed the double ring ceremony.

The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lee, jr., of Bellville, Ohio.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Bellville high school. The bridegroom is a veteran of two years with the Air Forces, serving in the Pacific Theater. He is employed at Westinghouse.

The couple will reside in Bellville when they return from a short wedding trip.

What's Cooking?

Roast Leg of Veal With Curry

Wipe veal, season with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Place in pan and sear under broiler. When seared on all sides, roast at 350 degees, allowing 25 minutes for each pound. Garnish platter with slices of orange topped with currant jelly. In the fat remaining in pan which veal was roasted, cook three tablespoons of flour. Stir in gradually three cups of stock or cold water, adding salt, pepper and one teaspoon of curry powder. Serve over meat.

Chocolate Ice Cream

1 tablespoon flour
1 cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 egg
2 cups scalded milk
2 ounces chocolate
1 quart thin cream
2 tablespoons vanilla

Add broken chocolate to milk in top of double boiler. Beat with rotary beater to dissolve quickly. Mix flour, sugar and salt. Add to slightly beaten egg. Blend with all ingredients and cook over portion of scalded milk. Combine steam for ten minutes or until thickened, stirring constantly. Cool. Add cream and flavoring. Freeze allowing one part salt to three parts ice or freeze three hours in mechanical refrigerator, stirring five times.

Friendly Spirit Creates Your Facial Radiance

By MME. QUI VIVE

One quality of beauty that every woman should cultivate is affability. What matters the perfection of the hair-do the peaches and cream complexion, the grandeur of the dry goods one wears, if the owner of these glories is a lemon? She might as well save herself the weekly trips to the beautytorium and the busy marts where sartorial luxuries are sold. She cannot disguise ill-nature with make-up The slender form has little appeal if it carries the soul of a rattlesnake.

What makes a woman a lemon? An over-developed sense of her own importance, maybe? A holier-than-thou attitude? Perhaps She has no tolerance for those who don't think or act precisely as she does.

Let every woman who would be beautiful and beloved say to herself, at least once a day, 'Dear Lord, help me to be tolerant Help me to be friendly gracious, thoughtful.' No woman is so wise that she can set herself up as an oracle, believe that her ways are always right

There is one like that in nearly every family always directing telling others what they should do They assume a great responsibility in trying to change the currents of other people's lives

External beautifying is a duty Good appearance engenders self-respect; it contributes to a certain extent, to happiness. It is part of the business of living like putting one's clothes on hangers, trotting to the dentist's office twice a year, keeping the house in order, answering letters promptly.

Beautifying the character and spirit is an even more important duty It makes for pleasant family life It is a wonderful satisfaction to feel that one has learned through experience, that one won't keep on making the same mistakes, that as the years advance one will become free of prejudices, more mellow, more lovable

If a woman can't get along with herself or her fellow creatures it is because she is blind to her defects Why rub people the wrong way? Why start arguments? It is senseless

It is too bad that we haven't mirrors to reveal our souls, as we have mirrors that reflect our faces. Some women would be shocked to find that they are back-biters, that they withhold affection and sympathy when others are perishing for kindly, friendly consideration

What we are we look to be Observe the clenched jaws of the bossy woman the dragged-out look of the whiner, the sharp, cold eyes of the calculating schemer. Worth thinking about, all that

New York Notes

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Broadway Bulletin Board — When Tony Martin heard reports that Rita Hayworth was on the verge of reconciling with her estranged husband he dashed to her house to ask her to marry him. The answer was no. She denied the reconciliation stories but Tony believes them and is carrying Hollywood's hottest torch . . . The Bob Hopes are adopting a little girl . . . Olivia De Havilland became the stepmother of an 18-year-old son when she married Marcus Goodrich . . . Secretary of State Byrnes will take a long vacation when he returns from the Paris Conference . . . The news on starlet Susan Peters' condition is discouraging . . . The new Moss Hart play, which will require five revolving stages and more stagehands than actors, is reported to have cost $140,000—something of a record for non-musicals . . . Major John Lehman, back after five years in the Army, will attend the school for diplomats that Edward Stettinius will open at the University of Virginia. He will take no part in his father's campaign for Senator.

Arline Judge and Cary Grant are a new, if not serious, duet. . . . A Connecticut publisher's infatuation with a beautiful politician may become a campaign issue in the coming election. . . . Intimates say Margaret Truman will become "Margaret Wallace" if she embarks on a singing career. . . . Incredible but true: The majority of loans made by a midtown Manhattan bank are for dance lessons.

* * *

A fabulous liquor deal involving 150,000 cases of Scotch which agents are trying to peddle in New York for five and a half million dollars has local liquor bigwigs in a dither. The cases are in Canada, supposedly a payoff by the British government to Canada on a wartime contract. The dealers here are afraid such a large amount of Scotch popping up so suddenly has an odd aspect . . . "Miss Pennsylvania" in the Atlantic City beauty contest—Eleanor Kramer—is being wooed by Bobby Doyle, the warbler . . . Thought while watching "Spectre Of The Rose:" Ben Hecht is getting to write more and more like Billy Rose! . . . Incidentally, "Spectre de la Rose," the famous classic ballet which presumably inspired the film, is shown incorrectly in the picture, as anyone mildly familiar with the ballet could have told the producer. Not only are the score and setting changed, but a corps de ballet is used—which just never happens in "Spectre de la Rose."

The literary world is waiting with considerable eagerness for William Saroyan's review of Irwin Shaw's next effort. Their dislike for each other is fantastic . . . The Duchess of Windsor orders a gallon of smooth skin oil from a Park ave. beauty house—at $80 per gallon—every six weeks. Has it flown air express to wherever she is. Dr. Albert Einstein almost nixed his appearance in the March of Time atom bomb film because the producers were dismayed by his refusal to wear a shirt. No amount of persuasion or analysis of the relative importance of body covering could sway him from maintaining his custom of going entirely bare chested. However, after much diplomacy, Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer persuaded Dr. Einstein to wear a T-shirt, and that's how he appears on celluloid.

Barclay On Bridge

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

THERE ARE two principal ways you can pick up a lot more points than were dealt to you. One is by doubling for business some risky bid stuck in by an opponent, who happens to find a weak partner or a misfit. The other is by redoubling when an opponent has doubled your own side in a contract it can make, especially if the contract is so low that you have a chance for an overtrick or so. In such cases, you can sometimes score more than a game is worth, though there was not a normal game in the cards

	♠ K J 10 9 6 2 ♥ K 10 9 5 ♦ A K ♣ 5
♠ A ♥ 9 4 2 ♦ Q J 10 8 5 3 ♣ K 8 7	N W E S	♠ Q 9 7 5 4 3 ♥ J 7 ♦ None ♣ J 10 6 4 3
	♠ None ♥ A Q 6 3 ♦ 9 7 6 4 2 ♣ A Q 9 2

(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♦	Dbl

North had several options after West's double, which was meant for a takeout, in clubs or hearts. The spade suit could have been rebid, hearts could have been bid, or North could have passed to await developments. But he thought of the fourth option, a redouble, because the bid was so low and he also knew the convention in use by his opponents if East bid over that redouble. Their method would have made a bid of 2-Clubs indicate strength, not a weakness takeout. So East had to pass West then could not think of any other course, so he passed too.

In play West, after laying down the spade A and then his heart 9, managed to take only four tricks. Every time South was in the dummy he led a spade and discarded a club, except once, when the J was covered by the Q, on which occasion he ruffed low. As a consequence, West got tricks only with his spade A and three of his trumps.

You figure out the score this produced—a lot more than anything possible from any action by North except his redouble.

Tomorrow's Problem.

	♠ 9 5 3 ♥ 10 8 ♦ Q J 10 7 4 ♣ 9 4 3
♠ 7 4 2 ♥ K 9 5 ♦ 9 6 2 ♣ A K Q 5	N W E S	♠ Q 6 ♥ A Q 7 3 ♦ 8 5 3 ♣ J 8 7 6
	♠ A K J 10 8 ♥ J 6 4 2 ♦ A K ♣ 10 2

(Dealer. South Neither side vulnerable.)

If West disregards East's signals and leads three top clubs how should South play to make his 4-Spades doubled?

Urges Publishers To Conserve Paper

NEW YORK—(AP)—Daily newspapers were urged today by Cranston Williams, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers association, to "carefully preserve newsprint stocks on hand in line with their needs with considerable allowance for slower delivery and interruption of shipments."

In a statement Williams warned that current high production of newsprint in Canada and Newfoundland cannot be maintained from month to month unless shipments move regularly, and added, "the box car situation is more seriously than at any time in the past 25 years."

The value of farm buildings fell more than 20 per cent from 1930 to 1940.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, September 19.

WHILE there are excellent promises of felicitous, productive and a generally gratifying state of affairs, in which intimate matters of home, social, and romantic life are primarily concerned, yet an undercurrent of the intriguing, bewildering, confusing and sinister may prove perilous to best-laid plans.

Secret and illicit angles or understanding with unscrupulous persons might undermine position, labor, business, the most cherished, devoted or sentimental relations. Keep alert to pitfalls and snares. Adhere strictly to duty and principle, shunning expediency.

Those whose birthday it is may come upon an undercurrent of the illicit, sinister, confused, or alluring, beckoning into pathways of illusion, delusion, treachery or glamor, upsetting straightforward thinking and sound fundamental principles, greatly to the detriment of very promising and cherished hopes and wishes in which the peace of the private life and the security of business or professional bases are menaced.

A child born on this day may have its high purpose or sound principles sidetracked by special reasons.

Try and Stop Me

An English lord was taken to one of the first Army-Navy football games ever played. It was a bitter struggle, and a lot of players were hurt.

"I say" commented the Englishman after a scrimmage that left two men prostrate on the field, "wouldn't it be simpler if they gave each team a ball?"

Tower Books has revived Ring Lardner's classic story of a bush-league ballplayer, "You Know Me, Al" with Lardner's own hilarious preface. It begins, "An introduction to this book was written by Will Rogers, but the Scribner boys threw it out on the ground that it was better than the book. However, there was one remark of Mr. Rogers which I think should be preserved Referring to me, he wrote, 'He is undoubtedly the biggest—' The rest of the sentence is so blurred as to be indecipherable."

REPORT PLASTIC EYE PERFECTED

Device Attached to Muscles Moves Like Human Orb.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Perfection of a radically new plastic artificial eye attached permanently to eye muscles so that it moves like a human orb has been reported by Dr. A. D. Ruedemann.

The eye was developed by Dr. Ruedman, chief eye surgeon of the Cleveland Clinic, and Fritz Jardm, of the American Outical Co., Southbridge, Mass.

Unlike glass eyes, which must be removed daily and washed, the unbreakable plastic eye is attached to the muscles and is nevr removed.

A metallic mesh covering the back portion of the plastic eye, Dr. Ruedemann said, is sewed to the eye muscles.

The mesh and suture materials are made of tantalum, a rare metalwhich causes little or no reaction when imbedded in human tissue. The artificial eye itself is madeof a durable plastic that resists breakage and corrosion.

In movement and appearance, it closely resembles a natural eye.

ANNEXATION

Council Okays Plan to Add 58 Acres to City.

SHELBY—City council, at its regular semi-monthly meeting Monday night, approved the annexation of 58.14 acres of land for indusion within the city limits. This is the largest plot of land annexd in the past 30 years.

The land includes 23.35 acres of city reservoir land; 18.1 acres north of Simeon avenue to straighten the corporation line to South Gamble street; 14.39 acres in the Walduff addition, and 2.3 acres in the May addition, both along Mansfield avenue road.

Outlining a tree-trimming program for the city, Arthur Elliott, utility company employe, explained how such a move would help to prevent damage to utility lines during storms.

Mayor Frank Long reported to council that a contract could be entered into with the tree trimmers at $1.62½ an hour.
